

Severity of diabetic retinopathy does not rise with distance from an academic program

Share of diagnosed DR that is vision-threatening, by drive time to the nearest ophthalmology residency program

3,119 US counties in the analytic sample, 2021. Bars are mean county shares; whiskers are 95% confidence intervals for the mean, reflecting between-county variation. If proximity to academic ophthalmology protected against progression, this would slope upward from left to right.